Hungerford Hill

MAKING AUTHENTIC,
REGIONAL WINES
SINCE 1971, IT'S ALL
ABOUT THE ESTATE,
THE PASSION AND
THE WINES FOR HUNGERFORD HILL.

This family owned estate has been successfully producing wines since 1971, making Hungerford Hill a standout name in the industry with an innovative multi-regional NSW strategy producing award-winning Shiraz from the Hunter Valley region and exciting Chardonnay from the cool climate, emerging region, Tumbarumba, amongst other varieties best suited to NSW wine regions. For Hungerford Hill the past year has brought nothing but triumph packed with trophies and awards, new packaging and the appointment of a new winemaker.

Their top Hunter Valley Shiraz (Hungerford Hill Epic Hunter Valley Shiraz 2007) was named NSW Wine of the Year at the 2012 Citibank NSW Wine Awards, as well as taking out the trophy for Best Mature Dry Red. Not long after, their flagship Tumbarumba Chardonnay was named Chardonnay of the Year and Runner Up Wine of the Year at the Winestate Wine of the Year Awards.

The pedigree of Hungerford Hill's wines are just an example of the high standards which have been set for new winemaker and returning Hunter Valley local, Adrian Lockhart who joined the family-owned estate having spent 16 years gaining experience across Australia and with new and old world winemaking internationally. The appointment of its new winemaker Adrian Lockhart perfectly coincides with this new era for Hungerford Hill returning to its roots with a rebranding and transformation of its packaging, reinvigorating and restoring its original packaging.
